Will Blaze Stikine Trail

Jack Hayes, Assistant Superintendent of Government Roads for the first division, passed through Wrangell on the Jefferson the last trip south on his way to Ketchikan. While here Mr. Hayes called at the Marshal's office and during his talk with Marshal Schnabel he said that he would be back in Wrangell in about two weeks to blaze the trail at the mouth of the Stikine River.

This road was asked for by the Wrangell Chamber of Commerce last spring. The trail will be surveyed and blazed at once and the actual construction work will be done next spring as soon as things open up. The road will be about twelve miles long and will extend from tide water up to where the travel can be made in the winter on the smooth ice of the river.

This is an improvement that has been long needed and a good committee of men who know the river should be appointed to make the blazing trip with Superintendent Hayes to see to it that the trail is where it should be as much depends on the trail for winter travel as it is now it is almost impossible to get up the river in the winter unless the ice is frozen nearly to the mouth while with the new trail all the rough ice at the mouth of the river would not have to be traversed and the trip made much easier and far less dangerous.

Big Game Hunters Return

Nearly all of the hunters that have been up the Stikine hunting this fall returned last night on the river boat Winifred and one and all are well satisfied with their trip and have a good bunch of heads to show for the trip.

The men have been hunting for the past two months and all say that the big game there is more plentiful than ever, especially moose. The reason for this is given as the Canadian government is going after the wolves and other destroying animals more than heretofore. There is a bounty of fifteen dollars on every wolf killed. The old timers who know say that they have seen twenty moose this year as compared to one ten years ago and the bounty on these animals is given as the reason.

Those returning down on the Winifred were Judge John Ford, of the Supreme Court of New York; Lord Beaulere of England interested in mining in the Cassiar district; Marcus Daly of New York; Daniel J. Singer, of New York, grand son of the famous sewing machine manufacturer; C. H. Young of London, England; C. Little of Victoria, B. C.; J. Running of New Zealand. O. W. Kean, Provincial Government superintendent of River Work; Max Endeille of Aberdeen Wash; and Leile and R. Carlson of Telegraph. Most of the men are big

Mining Men Return From Cassiar District

A party of mining men consisting of F. C. Mitchell, W. C. Mitchell, A. Marion, C. A. McCusker, John Fitzen and Samuel Muirhead arrived in Wrangell Tuesday afternoon about four o'clock from the Stikine in a scow in which they had come down the river from Telegraph Creek. The trip from Telegraph to Wrangell was made in two days and two hours which is good time for a boat of that size propelled by hand.

These men have spent the last season mining and prospecting in the Cassiar country on various creeks around Dease Lake and all are very enthusiastic over the prospects of the mining in that district. The Mitchell's have been working on a lay of claims they have on a tributary to Tibit creek about six miles from Dease Lake. While Marion and McCusker have put in the summer on McDomes creek about seventy miles from Dease Lake which is about seventy two miles from Telegraph and where they left camp September 25th arriving here Oct. 7th. John Fitzen and Samuel Muirhead has spent the summer prospecting and report some very good finds.

They report the Boulder Creek Mining Company as making great showings this year on their property on Boulder Creek having finished the ditch to the water from the headwaters of French Creek into Berry Creek and have built a flume over a mile long to take the water to Boulder for hydraulic purposes at the mine. There are about twenty men employed at this place.

A large company has had crew of men prospecting at the mouth of both Tibit Creek and Dease Creek, using keystone drills to find if the places were rich enough to send in a dredge to work the ground with.

Several leases are also being worked on Dease Creek all hydraulic properties.

With out an exception the men all expect to go back early in the spring. A. Marion and C. A. McCusker expect to leave here about March 1st. and will take in machinery and expect to make a good showing in gold before the season closes.

This country while a good ways from Wrangell means much for us here as the Stikine is the only feasible route to this territory and as it has already been proven that there is gold there it is only a question of a few years when we will have a steady output from the country all through Wrangell.

Two more boats were taken into the working list of the Alaska Cooperative Fishing & Packing Association this week. The company have taken in over a half car load already this week.

Judge Thomas left on the Princess Sophia last Friday for Los Angeles where he had been called to appear in the court with the Records of Mining Locations for the Wrangell Mining District in the case of the United States vs. T. H. Morgan. The facts of the case could not be learned but pretain to a fake mining proposition.

The mail boat Uncle Dan has a fine new lighting system this trip including an electric searchlight which is something new for a boat of this size. The plant makes the Uncle Dan the best lighted boat of its size in the country and the big searchlight has been a much needed light during the run in the long nights of the winter. The plant was installed by Frank Clarke who made the round trip last week. This is great improvement and makes the trip a much safer and comfortable one.

A recent report from the upper waters of White river located rich pay dirt on Carroll creek in that section of the country.

game hunters, some were interested in mining and the development of the country and all are looking for big things to develop in the next few years.

The Meteor, which left Rose Inlet on the morning of Oct. 1, had probably as big a load of all Alaskan products as ever was taken out of the country. It consisted of 19,400 cases of salmon, 13,600 sacks of fertilizer from Killisnoo and Port Armstrong, 1,000 barrels of whale oil from the latter place, 900 tons of marble from Tokeen and 600 tons of copper ore from the Jumbomine at Sulzer.

At last its out the secret of where all that noise has been coming from around the Wrangell Drug Company for the last few days. Doc. has the exclusive agency for the "Little Wonder" talking machine and it sure is named right. The machine is small and dainty as is also the price, being only $10, but for all that the tone can't be beat and is just the thing for a small house or boat. The needle is a good substantial one with a sapphire point and the records are double indelible and sell for 65c.

The Vermont came in from Tokeen this morning.

Great Strides On B. C. Road

One of the most important steps that has been taken during the past summer pertaining to the opening of the great interior country at the headwaters of the Stikine river, is the building of the wagon road from Telegraph Creek to Dease Lake, by the British Columbia Government under the supervision of Charles Collins. The road has been built out 13 miles from Telegraph this summer and most of the worst of the road has been constructed, leaving two bridges to be built and a few miles of mountain road the rest is a rolling prairie easily constructed. When this road is finished it will completely revolutionize the transportation in that country cutting the freight rates nearly half and helping as nothing else could do in the developing of this vast country with its great mining outlook which is growing brighter every year.

The road will cut the round trip time for packers from over eleven days as it is now to less than eight days.

Three pack trains are being operated between McCarthy and Chisana. The latest estimates to be made on the population of the new district place it at between 400 and 500 people.

Make Channel Up Iskut River

D. M. Kean, Provincial Government superintendent of River Work, was one of the passengers down on the Winifred last night. Mr. Kean comes here from the Dease Lake country where he has worked for the past summer cleaning navigable channels in that part of the district. He was called by his department to gather together a crew of men to take up the Iskut river to survey the channels and find what it will cost and how long it will take to get the river in shape for the small river boats to get to the big canyon.

This is another important step in the opening of a great country for some very rich mines are situated in the canyon. The present condition of the river is such that even a small boat can be taken up only under extreme difficulties. The river bed is of a muddy formation and filled with snags which will be pulled as soon as a channel is mapped out by Mr. Kean. The rest of the work will be started as early in the spring as a snag boat will be able to get up the river.

Four thousand dollars is due the city of Fairbanks from back taxes.

Like the tale of the Arabian Nights is the opinion given recently by an expert on the future of Alaskan gold mining. It is based on the testimony of Mr. Falcon Joslin, who addressed the Senate Committee at Washington. We quote Mr. Joslin's testimony from the Engineering and Mining Journal.

"In my judgement the placer mining industry of Alaska will last a thousand years, the area suitable for placer mining is so enormous. What we are working there now is only the gravels that carry from $3 to $10 per yard. You cannot work gravels that carry less than that, but once we have transportation, and work as they do in California, those carrying 7c a yard, we have got so nearly an unlimited area of it that no man can foresee the end of that industry in Alaska. There are 20 or 30 dredges in the Seward Peninsula. There is one dredge at Fairbanks and another in the Circle district. There are eight or ten dredges in the Klondike. They operate about 50 days per year. They usually work until November, beginning some time in May. They are working gravels at Dawson which is an older camp than Fairbanks, that carry 50c. per yard. And in some cases they are working gravel by dredging as low as 40c. per yard at a profit in the Dawson country. When our transportation gets better, we shall be able to work similar gravels in Alaska. One great thing is that nearly the whole area of Alaska is gold bearing. There are placers and quartz. It has been said, and I believe the statistics and explorations of the Geological Survey show it, that you could go from Alaska, at Ketchikan, where there are important mines, along this route by way of Haines, clear out to Nome, a distance of 2,000 miles in a straightline, and that in every 20-mile strip along that route you could develop gold mines. It is infinitely greater than any other area of gold country that has ever been found in the world."

Does it come under the head of precocity if a child less than a year old undergoes the appendicitis operation?

The passing summer has not been a phenomenal one for its heat, and yet it has had more than its share of hot times.

A scientific authority asserts that cutting the hair produces baldness which is adequate pay that 50c. price.

There is one thing about it: Not every woman is qualified to wear the x-ray skirt.

A real good business man who will allow his wife credit for the successful den.

Some men are such managers that they can buy fever on a salary of $15 a week.

An authority says that rich people live longer than poor people. Still a lot of people persist in being born poor.

Who is going to wear all the hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of jewelry that has been stolen this summer?

A Boston choirmaster is being sued for breach of promise. He must have promised the girl in a falsetto.

As a result of the loss of the steamer State of California in Gambier Bay, Alaska, Senator Jones has called the attention of the department of commerce to the necessity for additional aids to navigation in Alaskan waters. The investigation by the department with a view to securing estimates for installing the necessary additional navigation aids is asked by the senator, who points out that the numerous wrecks within the past few years have been proof of the need of additional lights and charts.

Of course there are all kinds of opinions concerning the value and the extent of the new gold diggings in the Chisana country. But in that respect there is no difference between the views held in the earlier days of the strikes in the Klondike, Nome, Fairbanks or Iditarod countries. And as in those stampedes, many hundreds are rushing to the Chisana when they are so lightly equipped that about all they can do is to turn around and mush out again. A large majority of these men speak well of the country. It is mostly the men who turned back at McCarthy's Chittistone and Skolai that give the diggings a black eye. They are the kind of men who never should have started, and the kind that the people of Cordova sought to induce to turn back from here. Most of them were lacking in both grub and courage, and left the states with the idea that they were going on an exciting pleasure jaunt. —Chitina Leader.

All Royal Northwest Mounted Police posts on the White river trail to the Chisana will be mining recording offices. The police in charge of the various places have been designated by Gold Commissioner George Mackenzie ex-officio recorders, and will receive applications for placer, quartz and other claims allowable to be staked under the laws.

The Skagway council has taken preliminary steps toward confining the Skagway river within permanent banks. Cooperation between the municipality and the White Pass and Yukon is proposed. The plan is to build dykes that will keep the water running straight for Lynn canal instead of spreading over large sections of the town when the river is high.

Skagway took steps early to provide for a safe and sane Fourth of July next year by passing the other day an ordinance making it unlawful to make, sell or otherwise dispose of fire-works in that city.

MANY STOWAYS

Shortly before the Mariposa left Cordova on her last trip an inspection of the ship was made and twenty eight stowaways discovered in hiding in various quarters aboard the vessel. The passage beaters were rounded up and put ashore, much to their disgust. Nearly all of the financially embarrassed group were stampedees who have been to the Chisana gold fields and spent their last cent in getting in and out again. Several of them had claims staked.

"A Awful Good Dog."

Ben Strickland, assistant clerk to the Indiana state bureau of printing and binding, said when he lived in Greenfield there lived there also a family composed of a man and his wife and a dog that was claimed by both of them. The family was nomadic, wandering about the country with a decrepit horse in the summer time, and the dog was their constant companion. Finally the dog lived its allotted days and was buried with as much pomp as the man and his wife could command. Next day Strickland saw the woman, and she was bewailing the loss of the dog. As a crumb of comfort Strickland offered:

"Now, Aunt Martha, you shouldn't feel so bad about that dog. What if it had been Uncle Billy (the husband) instead?"

"That might 'a' been purty bad," responded Aunt Martha. "but, Ben, I tell you that was a awful good dog."—Indianapolis News.

Brick the Best Fireproof Material.

Studies of the ruins of conflagrations, as well as of many other fires, have shown conclusively that hard burned brick forms the most efficient fireproofing material we have at the present time. This seems to be due both to the homogenous texture of brick and to its small size. The hardest burned brick may split somewhat on the outer face, but the face next to the steel does not heat dangerously and the numerous joints relieve to a great degree the effects of expansion. Unfortunately, brick is the most expensive kind of fireproofing.—Engineering Magazine.

"Gold Stick" Is Tried Out

John Fintzen returned from up the Stikine river where he has been for the past summer reports that he has had more than ordinary success with his invention of the "gold stick" which he has tried out in every way imaginable and he says he has found some very rich ground during his experiment and he is now sure that he has it down to where he can locate any body of either gold, silver or copper to the depth of 300 feet and is now working on a course whereby he can locate platinum.

As is pretty well known to almost everybody in this region, John Fintzen, of Sulzer, has been working steadily on his invention with which he locates ore veins in the ground in the same way the old familiar forked stick in some people's hands is said unfailingly locate running water below the earth's surface. Mr. Fintzen has been working and experimenting to find something with an affinity for gold, silver and copper for almost 13 years and now it looks as though he has found it.

If as appears probable, this instrument of Mr. Fintzen's will work as he intends for anyone, it will mean a complete revolution in the matter of prospecting and developing a property and it will result in the complete elimination of unnecessary work, as the leads can be spotted out and traced a long their course.

The working parts of the instrument is in hard rubber tubes from 2 inches to 20 inches long each for different vein of ore, working with the magnetism in a person's body, the richer the ore the longer the tube used. The instrument was given considerable space in the Ketchikan Miner last spring after several exhibition there before different mining men.

"There's No Ducks Left" Says Harry

Harry Gartley and party journeyed to the flats last Sunday and now Harry says "there isn't a bit of use for any of us to go to the flats as they got all the ducks there was over there," anyway they returned with well filled bags and say the shooting was fine.

Hitching your wagon to a star is all right, young man, but don't loan your automobile to a vaudeville star.

Wabash Sails For Ketchikan

The good ship Wabash under the command of Capt. Fred Stackpole with all sails set left yesterday for Ketchikan where the Capt. and crew of the vessel will be in attendance at the setting of the Court at that place on the 13th of the present month, providing the wind and tide does not object. These aboard her when she left here were Capt. Stackpole, M. Prescott, Earl West, Mr. Haskens and son. The Wabash will put in at Ratz Harbor where M. Prescott and Haskens and son will be left for a hunting trip while the Wabash will proceed with due speed to Ketchikan, putting in again on the return trip picking up the hunters before returning here. We would note that if there is any speed boats left in Ketchikan now is there chance.

Slips One Over On Us

Just to show that it could be done and nobody know it, Samuel A. Shepard and Miss Ina Burg were married and left for Seattle on the City of Seattle last Thursday evening. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Burg of this city and has made her residence here for several years. The groom came here from Seattle.

The ceremony occurred at the family residence, Rev. Clark officiating, after which the party went aboard the City of Seattle and were on their way south before their unsuspecting friends learned that they had been tricked.

The happy pair will make their future home in Seattle. The Sentinel joins with their host of friends in wishing them a long and happy married life.

Mexicans Run Amuck

Three Mexicans ran amuck here in Wrangell late Tuesday evening and were gathered in by Marshal Schnabel who took the men to Petersburg where they were tried by Judge Rivard and given a sentence of 23 dollars and cost which was not paid and they drew 13 days each in the local jail.

P. Lane, a man well known about Fairbanks, was declared insane at that place Sept. 12th. He had been roaming about the country without taking time to eat or sleep, fleeing, so he said, from "three little men with guns".
